Six Killed When Private Plane Hits Mountain

UNIONTOWN, Pa., AP—Six persons, including a vice-president of Standard Oil of Ohio, were killed when their twin-engine private plane slammed into fog-shrouded Summit Mountain near here Sunday.

Bodies of the victims, all from Ohio, were found scattered outside the wreck. The plane, a Lockheed Lodestar, skidded to a stop near the stainless steel Junction Cross, then burst into flames after cutting a swath through heavy woods.

The 65-foot-high cross, located on a knoll about eight miles east of here, is visible for miles. It serves as a marker for the Junction Cross, then burst into flames after cutting a swath through heavy woods.

State Police identified the victims as Warren F. Noonan, Midletown, Ohio, the pilot, Theodore O. Krauss, Cleveland, the co-pilot, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. McLaughlin, Cleveland Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Stewart, Cleveland.

Stewart was vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, owner of the plane, and McLaughlin, a wealthy food broker.

Four Multiple Crashes

15 Highway Deaths

By United Press

Four multiple fatality crashes on Illinois highways killed a total of 11 persons, four of them in a single wreck near Kankakee Sunday.

The accidents boosted the state's weekend traffic toll to at least 15 dead.

A St. Ann, Ill., couple and two Chicago men were killed and four persons were injured Sunday night in a two-car collision at the intersection of U. S. 45 and Ill. 116 south of Kankakee.

Dead were Shirley Ann Stuckmaier, 24, and her husband, Otto, 26, of St. Ann, and John Jones, 48, and Leifore Crockett, 37, of Chicago.

Authorities were unable to determine immediately the cause of the crash.

Three persons were killed in a two-car crash near Manteno Friday night. Dead were Warren Carmack, 2, Manteno; Ray Olson, 36, Kankakee, and Percy Morrison, 46, Kankakee.

Robert C. Brown, 32, Chicago, was killed when his car rammed a bus carrying 47 members of the East Aurora Pep Club five miles west of Sycamore Friday.

Theodore Reichmann, 51, Springfield, and his son, Theodore Jr., 8, were killed Sunday when their car was struck broadside by a milk truck near Sullivan.

Mrs. Mary Monsen, 25, Glen Ellyn was killed near Forest Saturday when her car hurtled off the road and struck a culvert.

A car rolled over four times Saturday near Litchfield, killing Donald Rink, 18, Belleville.

John Larsen, 60, and his wife, Ruth, 59, Niles, were killed Friday in a two-car collision near Champlain.

A hit-and-run driver struck and killed Clem Garner, 44, who lived near Momence, when Garner parked his car and attempted to cross a highway six miles east of Momence Sunday.

Auto Overtakes; Jim Matthews Also In Car; Two Other Area Accidents

Jerry Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Taylor of Harrisburg, suffered a serious back injury early Sunday when the auto he was driving overturned on Route 13 about a half mile west of Dead Man's curve in Williamson county.

Taylor is in Lightner hospital. His physician said the SIU student had suffered five fractures of the transverse processes of the spine, but not of the vertebrae, that the injury will be disabling for at least a while.

With Taylor was Jim Matthews, 17, of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Matthews. Both youths were taken to Lightner hospital and Matthews was released after examination.

State Policeman Jerome Turner called to the accident, said Taylor was driving toward Harrisburg when his car ran off the road on a curve and rolled and skidded 477 feet, overturning at least three times. Turner said apparently no other car was involved.

The passengers told Turner they figured they were unconscious in the auto for quite a while before they were picked up and taken to the hospital.

Clarence Seagraves of Eldorado also is a patient at Lightner hospital as a result of his car leaving the road and hitting an obstacle on Route 13 east of Harrisburg in the Billman road area, also early Sunday. The car was demolished.

Another car also was wrecked. Officers said it was an auto taken from Andy's Salvage yard just north of Harrisburg by Delmar Unsell, 17, and driven north on Route 34 to the gravel road that turns west between the twin bridges. There Unsell tried to turn left off the highway and overturned the auto. He suffered only minor bruises.

County officers picked up Unsell at his home following the incident and jailed him.

Sunday night a pickup truck driven by Sammy Pyle of Carrier Mills left Route 45 near Pauper Crossing and hit a utility pole. The vehicle was badly damaged but Pyle was not injured.

County and city officers investigated an incident which occurred Saturday night at the Rolla White side residence on South McKinley avenue.

When Mr. and Mrs. Whiteside returned home, officers said, they found clothing had been taken out of drawers and scattered over the house, that a picture had been torn up.

A hit-and-run driver struck and killed Clem Garner, 44, who lived near Momence, when Garner parked his car and attempted to cross a highway six miles east of Momence Sunday.

Robert C. Brown, 32, Chicago, was killed when his car rammed a bus carrying 47 members of the East Aurora Pep Club five miles west of Sycamore Friday.

Theodore Reichmann, 51, Springfield, and his son, Theodore Jr., 8, were killed Sunday when their car was struck broadside by a milk truck near Sullivan.

Mrs. Mary Monsen, 25, Glen Ellyn was killed near Forest Saturday when her car hurtled off the road and struck a culvert.

Salvation Army Drive Gets Under Way; Will Goal Be Met?

Did you know that: During 1956 the Harrisburg Salvation Army unit borrowed $2,218.46 from Salvation Army headquarters?

This should never be necessary in a community the size of Harrisburg.

Today the annual drive for funds for the Salvation Army got under way in Harrisburg. The goal is $5,000 and should be met easily.

But will it? The next week or two will tell.

Follow Practices To Prevent Fires, Martin Urges

This week has been proclaimed Fire Prevention Week in Illinois by Gov. William G. Stratton and Harrisburg Fire Chief L. G. Martin asked people of this area to heed the proclamation.

Stratton points out that property damage and loss of lives by fires during the past years has accentuated the need for more fire-preventing practices, that both could have been prevented to a great extent through greater emphasis on effective fire preventing programs in Illinois communities.

"Whereas," the proclamation says, "state and local governments, the Red Cross, the Chamber of Commerce, and all business, labor and farm organizations, as well as civic groups and individuals of the State have been urged by the President of the United States to endorse Fire Prevention Week . . . I . . . do hereby proclaim the week beginning October 6 as Fire Prevention Week in Illinois."

U. S. Facing New Problem of Defense Costs

Expect Congress, Administration to Study Future Needs

WASHINGTON, AP—Will Russia's successful blast into space force a drastic revamping of U. S. and Western defense strategy that could cost many billions and send hopes of an early tax cut spinning into the stratosphere?

That was one of the most crucial problems facing the United States in the wake of the Soviet's first successful launching of an artificial moon.

Some of the nation's foremost scientists, associated closely with this country's effort to send its own satellite aloft, called today not only for a stepped-up satellite program but a multi-billion dollar "crash" program to beat Russia to the moon and the planets.

"The issue is supremacy," one highly-placed scientist told the United Press.

But high administration officials predicted Russia's success with its satellite will set off no new big defense spending outlay. If this forecast stands up it will keep alive some hopes for tax reduction next year.

It appeared likely both Congress and the administration will take a new look at U. S. defense strategy and spending in the light of the Red moon.

President Eisenhower was expected back from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm sometime today. He was certain to discuss the Red achievement with his top advisers. The issue is sure to be discussed by the President and the top-level National Security Council at its regular session on Thursday.

There were indications the U. S. satellite-launching program specifically is in for an immediate review. Top scientists connected with the program said unequivocally it could be speeded up if the government wishes. They made it equally plain more money is the answer.

Steps Up Scientific Offensive

Russia Announces Successful Test Of Powerful Hydrogen Bomb Device

LONDON, AP—Russia, stepping up its scientific offensive against the West, today announced it has successfully tested "a powerful hydrogen bomb device of new design."

Radio Moscow reported this only three days after it announced Russia's first earth satellite had been launched into space. It said the hydrogen test took place Sunday and was "successful."

No other details were given. It appeared the test had been timed to give the West new evidence of Russia's claimed scientific superiority.

The unusual Tass news agency announcement said that "in the interest of the safety of the population and of those taking part in the test, the explosion was carried out at great altitude."

The official Tass announcement, broadcast by Radio Moscow, was highly unusual. Russia seldom discloses nuclear tests until well after their completion. Usually the United States and Britain are first to reveal Soviet blasts.

First news of the explosion came from the Japan meteorological board. It said in Tokyo that Soviet Russia tested another nuclear weapon Sunday night.

Today's announcement did not hint what kind of "new design" was involved.

It did not describe the explosion as a bomb but as a "device."

The Japanese meteorological board reported unusual atmospheric pressure around 2 a. m. s. t. Sunday. This suggested the big new test was carried out in Soviet Siberia. The eight-line Tass announcement did not reveal the location.

Ernest Arms, engineer at radio station WEBQ, has picked up what he is certain is the signal from the Russian earth satellite.

Arms, who has excellent short-wave facilities at his home across from Dorris Heights school, said he had been in continuous contact with the signal since 4 p. m. on a frequency of 20.005.

He said the signal sounds like it could be from a telemeter outfit, which is used in this country to transmit weather conditions.

The signal started building up around 5 a. m. today and continued to build up strength, which indicated that it was headed this way again, Arms added.

He based his certainty that he was getting the satellite signal on these facts:

(a) The press association stories have reported that the signal has been on the 20.005 frequency;

(b) He talked with a "ham" operator in Arizona yesterday and compared notes, and the Arizona operator was getting the same signal as he.

(c) He then talked with operators all over the country and learned that when the signal was strong in the west it was weak in other areas and when strong in other areas it was weak in the west. This indicated that what was carrying the apparatus sending out the signal had motion.

Arms said that persons desiring to hear the signal could come to his place after 5 p. m. but added that at 5 p. m. today the signal probably would be weak.

Michael Taggart, 94, Retired Miner, Dies at Eldorado

He is survived by his daughters, Mrs. Lizzie McCarens, Eldorado, with whom he made his home, Mrs. Alice McAleer, and Mrs. Peggie O'Neil, both of Detroit, Mich.; and his son, Thomas Taggart, East St. Louis. He leaves 20 grandchildren, 34 great-grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Rosary will be said at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Eldorado funeral home where the body will lie in state until the funeral at 9 a. m. Wednesday. The funeral will be held in St. Mary's Catholic church, Eldorado, with Rev. W. E. Hanagan officiating and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Jack Patrick Of Ridgway Dies

In addition to her husband, she is survived by her sons, George Vaughn, Shawnee town, and Clyde Vaughn, Evansville, Ind. The funeral was held at 2 p. m. today in the New Hope Baptist church with Rev. Herman Cantrell of Eldorado officiating. Burial was in the Jackson cemetery.

Cecile Rose fell Saturday afternoon in her beauty shop and cut her right hand severely. She was carrying a large bottle which broke as she fell.

Last Stage of Rocket Also Caught in Space

Moscow's Report No Surprise To Scientists

LONDON, AP—Moscow Radio announced today that part of the missile which launched Russia's satellite is also encircling the earth in a moon-like orbit of its own.

The last stage of the rocket apparently was caught in space and became a second satellite.

"It is not only the satellite which is being watched," Moscow Radio said, "but also the rocket that carried it into the orbit."

"This rocket is also encircling the earth at approximately the same altitude as the satellite."

"But it is separated from it by some 1,000 kilometers (680 miles). This distance will alter in the future."

No Surprise to Scientists

This announcement was the latest in Russia's stepped-up scientific and propaganda battle with the West. Shortly before, it reported it had exploded a "new" hydrogen warhead on Sunday. This came only a few days behind Moscow's achievement of launching the first earth satellite into outer space.

Tracking the shell, as well as the satellite, would provide highly important information on the character of space.

Moscow's disclosure was not a surprise to scientists.

Theoretically, anything fired outside the earth's atmosphere and gravitational field at sufficient speed would become a satellite, regardless of shape or design.

Drs. J. Allen Hynek and Richard E. McCroskey of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory in Cambridge, Mass., told newsmen earlier today that they believed the satellite might actually include the third-stage rocket.

Could Aim Missile

McCroskey said at that time there was a possibility the rocket itself had become a satellite of even greater dimensions than the original. McCroskey said that on this basis it was possible that a reported sighting of the satellite in Alaska Sunday was actually the third-stage rocket.

Observers said the orbiting of the Soviet rocket gave convincing new evidence of the Kremlin

Waldo Easley (left), who was hunting with Zeigler, also hit a buck while hunting Saturday, but they were unable to track it down. The deer is the first reported killed in this area by bow and arrow hunters. The season for deer by bow and arrow hunters runs from Oct. 1 until Oct. 15. #### Individual Problem

EDITORIAL BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

By many gauges, American life today is vastly better than it was even a decade ago.

Likewise, the American people are in many ways more complete individuals than they were.

They are better informed and have a fuller sense of their responsibilities as voting citizens.
They have a bigger grasp of world affairs and their country's place in them.

They take better care of themselves, and that includes engaging more actively in sports rather than just watching others play.
Their level of interest in cultural things is higher, especially in such fields as serious music.

But the picture is not all bright.
As Americans have gone booming along the road of mounting prosperity, as their cities have grown to the bursting point, individual character has often suffered.

ACCORDING to the specialists who keep the scientific glass trained on us, our biggest lack is discipline.

The crime experts say lack of parental discipline is a main factor in the rise of juvenile delinquency. They speak not merely of broken homes but of "whole" families which do not exercise firm control over growing children.

Off to a bad start, such children are not easily controlled in school, in church, or anywhere else.

In countless instances the community, which can only be the sum of individual concerns about the matter, seems indifferent to real corrective measures. People are pre-occupied with the enticements of modern living. The problem of discipline hardly registers.

A big reason is that the U. S.
adult population is itself frequently handicapped by poor discipline.

PUBLIC behavior—considerate attention to the other fellow—is at a low ebb in many big cities. The line between legitimate and dishonest activities in business and politics is shadowy.

Energetic devotion to hard work and the development of craftsmanship in a trade or profession now and then seem almost like obsolete traits. Shoddy, indifferent workmanship and mere time-serving are all too common. "I want to be paid for doing practically nothing" is an unspoken motto in some quarters.

Of course it's not only discipline but pride—personal caring—that enters into this matter of working hard and well. But, clearly, a lot of people just can't school themselves to do it.

We Americans are blessed with riches no other people can match.
Yet in the end they may not be worth the scramble if we find we have not developed the great resource of character—character founded on sturdy discipline—to the fullest of our powers.

Shocking Disclosure

We all have been reading for a long time how planes and buses have been cutting heavily into the railroads' passenger business. But it comes as something of a shock, nevertheless, to hear that railroad passenger car makers are on the verge of giving up their manufacture.

Right now there are no major orders for passenger cars on the manufacturers' books, and no prospect there will be.

The builders are either converting to freight car construction, or junking their car building equipment altogether and getting into other lines of work.

When it is realized that the average age of all U. S. rail passenger cars now in operation is 28 years, then the full force of this trend becomes evident. Many of these cars obviously will go out of use in the time just ahead.

Plainly, business isn't good enough to justify ordering replacements.
If the government has any idea that this trend has gone too far, and any plan for arresting or reversing it, it had better act. Time is running fast in the railroad passenger field.

cil undergoes approximately 100 laboratory and factory tests to insure its efficiency.

"We Can See the Trees Now Without That Old Forest"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Drew Pearson says: Ben-Gurion invites Arab states to a peace conference; Israel's immigration problems make return of Arab refugees difficult; Ben-Gurion predicts
peace for Israel.

TEL AVIV.—In order to see what could be done to bridge the valley of hate between the Arabs and Israel, I went to see the Prime Minister of Israel, David Ben-Gurion. I found him at the Hotel Sharon where he was spending a few days bathing in the Mediterranean.

Mrs. Ben-Gurion, who was raised in Brooklyn and whom everyone in Israel calls by her first name,
"Paula," met me in the hotel corridor.

"You want to see the old man?"
she said, and escorted me into his room. It was the same hotel room
I had occupied last year. The Prime Minister, now 71, did not look old. He had been doing Yoga exercises on the beach and at that moment was reading a thick volume of Greek philosophy as part of his vacation relaxation.

Ben-Gurion was interested in the fact that I had been to Syria and peppered me with questions. At one point I interrupted the questions to remark dead-pan: "How are you getting along with your plan to marry Mrs. Golda Meir to King Hussein of Jordan?"

Mrs. Meir, unsmiling dignity.
The king, a notorious playboy and ladies' man, is 23.

"Where did you hear that?"
gasped the astonished Prime Minister.

"It's all over the Arab world," I replied, still dead-pan. "That you're trying to make peace with the Arabs by playing cupid for King Hussein and Mrs. Meir. I'm planning to write a big story on it."

"But the king is still married," shot back Ben-Gurion catching the joke and breaking into one of his broad, contagious grins.

Fear of Israel

The rest of the interview was deadly serious. Reporting on my trip through the Arab states, I told Ben-Gurion that every Arab leader I met raised the refugee problem, and everyone also expressed genuine fear of the Israeli army. They seemed to feel the Israeli army was endowed with either divine or satanic strength.

"Are you sure it is fear?" Ben-Gurion replied. "I think it is also the desire to destroy Israel. They use the excuse of fear to nurture the desire to destroy us."

"If they are afraid, then why don't they sit down with us and negotiate a nonaggression pact?"
he continued. "Let us have a treaty of friendship and peace. We are ready at any time."

I told Ben-Gurion that while extremist Arabs would never rest until Israel was destroyed, I had met more moderate Arabs who knew Israel was here to stay. They felt that if he made the gesture of letting the refugees come back, only a handful would come.

"Our whole problem," he said,
"is migration. We are working to take care of people from all over the world, and I am afraid we shall have to take care of many more."

"There are 3,000,000 Jews in Russia and if Russia opens her doors to let them depart, I have reason to believe that one-half of them would want to come out.
What we will do with them I do not know, but we shall manage.
We have managed in the past and we shall manage again."

"If Israel ever ceases taking in immigrants, then our reason for being ceases. People migrate to the United States to better themselves. They migrate here because they want to live in Israel."

"We could become self-sufficient in a few years if we cut off immigration. But if we cut off the people who want to come here we lose our reason for being."

It was plain from Ben-Gurion's answer that Israel would be too crowded to handle Arab refugees.
Peace for Israel?

We talked at great length of the problems of the Near East, much of it off the record. As I was about to leave, I asked:

"What is Israel's greatest achievement during the past year?"

"The Sinai campaign and immigration," Ben-Gurion replied. "We have won new security and freedom from attack; and we have taken in new immigrants from Europe and Egypt. We have housed them, settled them on the land. We are pushing ahead in the Negev (he referred to the southern desert which is being irrigated). We are bringing our ships to Elath. We are laying a pipeline across the desert."

"These things we have done.
They have not been easy, but we have done them."

"Last year when I was here,"
I reminded Ben-Gurion, "I predicted war between Israel and Egypt with France and England coming in and Russia and the United States staying out. What would you advise me to predict this time?"

"Peace," replied the Prime Minister without hesitation, "—as far as Israel is concerned."

I would agree with that prediction—as far as Israel is concerned.
But Israel alone does not control the peace of the Near East. And, judging from the temper of the Arab states, especially Syria, I fear that Ben-Gurion may be a modern-day Moses.

Like the prophet who led the people of Israel back within sight of the promised land but never enjoyed the privilege of getting there himself, Ben-Gurion has settled the people of Israel on a new, revitalized promised land, but may not live to see peace in the land which he has settled.

"Bear State" was the nickname of Arkansas until 1923, when it was changed to "Wonder State."

Distraught Coed Who Threatened Suicide Returns Home with Father

CHICAGO (UP) — A distraught Chicago coed who ran away from New York and threatened to commit suicide returned here with her father today to begin a new life.

Marcia Horan, 21, who had been missing since Sept. 4, was persuaded to abandon her thoughts of suicide and rejoin her family Sunday by a New York priest.

Her father, Martial a Chicago city engineer, flew to New York Sunday night for the reunion with his daughter. Police said the father and daughter took the next plane back to Chicago, where they apparently went into seclusion.

Marcia's mother, who feared her daughter had met with foul play, was said to be in a rest home for treatment of nervous strain.

Earlier, New York's 23,000-man police force had been alerted to search for the blue-eyed coed after she wrote a note to her parents saying she was "on the verge of suicide."

Authorities said Miss Moran called the unidentified Roman Catholic priest Sunday to discuss her problems. In her letter Miss Moran had written she was depressed over her grades at Loyola University last summer and had other problems which "only concern myself."

The priest convinced her to call in Acting Capt. John Cronin of the missing persons bureau.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm said Cronin and the priest talked to the coed for a long time before she agreed to call her father.

Arm said Miss Horan had been living in a west side apartment under the name of Marcia McMahon. She left the apartment Saturday after leaving a note with a neighbor, Samuel Goldberg, 35.

Goldberg and his girl friend, Theresa Pegora, said they had become acquainted with Miss Horan and had tried to cheer her up. Miss Horan's note to Goldberg said: "Terry and you helped me change my mind, but I just changed it again."

In writing her parents, Miss Horan said: "For a long time I have had some problems and am on the verge of killing myself."

She said she had run away from New York to think things out, but "now I am back where I started. I have decided to go through with it."

Tension Eases At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — A Negro leader said today racial tensions seem to be easing in Little Rock and the atmosphere at integrated Central High School is "getting back to normal pretty fast."

Mrs. Lucius C. Bates, Arkansas leader of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, said the nine Negro students attending Central High under the protection of federal troops are beginning to look forward "hopefully" to the day when "they can walk to school like everyone else, without armed guards."

The Army escorted the Negro boys and girls to school as usual this morning. For the first time, there was no crowd of white students on the steps to watch their arrival. Six National Guardsmen walked with the Negroes from an Army station wagon to the steps, where three paratroopers took over. No one hooted, jeered or yelled, and there was no incidents of any kind.

Missile Launching Satellite Encircling Earth

scientists' ability to aim a guided missile.

It would have to be delivered into space at exactly the right speed on precisely the correct course to "orbit" onto a perfect trajectory.

Presumably, only the last stage of the launching rocket was revolving about the earth. Scientists believed it required at least a three-stage rocket — one rocket firing after another, with the spent ones dropping off — to carry the 184-pound satellite to its orbit 360 miles above earth.

Like the satellite, the rocket has no power of its own. Momentum carries it through space. The Moscow announcement suggested that the rocket's cylindrical shape, as opposed to the spheroid shape of the satellite, gradually would slow it down.

Reds Study Space Ship

There was no immediate word from Moscow how the rocket-moon had been tracked — whether by radar or by sight. It would carry no radio of its own to signal its position.

Meanwhile, American scientists in Barcelona, Spain, said Soviet scientists are far along in studies of space ship that can visit the moon and return.

Announce Plans for HTHS Fire Prevention Scholarship Contest

Plans for the National Fire Prevention Week scholarship contest, sponsored annually by the Bill Ghent Insurance Brokerage, formerly Robertson-Ghent, were announced today by Ellis Henson, principal of the Harrisburg Township high school.

In years past, the contest has been in the form of an essay contest with "Fire Prevention" the subject of the essay. This year, in an effort to promote 100 percent student participation, the scholarship will be awarded on the basis of a home fire hazard survey.

Each student of the Harrisburg Township high school will be provided with a questionnaire form listing many of the home fire hazards and will be requested to indicate those hazards found in his home. The survey form will then be returned to the high school authorities for a drawing to determine the winner.

The winner will receive a nine-months scholarship to Southern Illinois University or, if he chooses, a $50 United States Series E Savings Bond.

Elderly Money Lender Fatally Beaten at Centralia

CENTRALIA, Ill. (UP) — Police today investigated the credit list of an elderly money lender found trussed and beaten to death in his shanty home.

Police said Edward M. Arnold, 77, an Illinois Central Railroad laborer, was brutally beaten and strangled.

His hands had been tied behind his back and his legs lashed together with strips of cloth. Police said his face showed marks of a brutal beating.

Clyde Hutson, who found the body said that Arnold lived frugally, saved his money and made frequent loans to friends. Hutson said he went to Arnold's home Saturday to borrow money.

Arnold lived alone.

Police theorized that Arnold may have been the victim of a robber, but decided to investigate all clues, including Arnold's credit list.

Southern Sheriff Arms Against Federal Rule

UNION, S. C. (UP)—The Union County legislative delegation has outfitted the county sheriff's office with nine sub-machine guns at a cost of $1,000 to ward off any integration attempt by federal or other forces, State Sen. John D. Long said today.

Long said Sheriff J. Harold Lamb and his eight deputies were equipped with the Browning guns and 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

Long said Lamb assured the legislators he and his deputies will fight off "any lawful or unlawful military or civilian violation of county laws."

Union County "expects no invasion" by federal troops such as at Little Rock, Ark., but if it comes, "we're ready," Long announced.

"Anyone violating our laws will be arrested, jailed and treated the same as any other accused person," Long said.

He said he viewed with horror the federal troops "with ammunition, bayonets and clubbed guns felling unarmed civilians in Little Rock."

"We don't intend to let that happen in Union," he said.

Long said Lamb has assured the delegation he will act to keep federal troops out of Union County unless he is ruled out of office by a presidential proclamation of war, or insurrection, or by an act of the governor.

Faubus Charges Troops Invade Girls' Dressing Rooms

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus charged today that federal troops guarding Central High School have been invading "the privacy of the girls' dressing rooms."

He made the charge in a letter to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, military commander here.

A spokesman for Walker said the Army had no knowledge of any such incident.

Faubus addressed Walker as "commander of occupation troops." He told the general that if federal forces plan to say at Central High School "as long as forcible integration of the school is necessary, then it is my opinion that you and your troops will be here a long time."

Faubus told Walker in his letter that he has "received a number of complaints from parents, mostly mothers, about your troops accompanying the girl students to their dressing rooms."

The governor suggested that the general bring in a number of Women's Army Corp members to police the dressing rooms if he feels troops are needed to protect Negro girls there.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our parents, Mrs. Ella Hickey who died Oct. 26, 1936 and Howard Hickey, who died Oct. 6, 1953:
They are waiting by the river,
Just across the silent stream,
Where sweet flowers are ever blooming
And the banks are ever green.
Sadly missed by the Hickey family. 85-1

In Memoriam
In loving memory of my mother, Mabel Meacham, who departed this life one year ago October 6. When a mother breathes her last farewell,
The stroke means more than tongue can tell.
The world seems quite another place
Without the smile of mother's face.
And while she lies in peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by the Meacham children and grandchildren. *85-1

Card of Thanks
MILLER — We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives of our mother, Mrs. Cloie Miller; for all the beautiful flowers, and kindness and sympathy; especially we thank Gibbons Funeral home, the Rev. Carl Downey and Norma Gower for the songs, and Cecil Abney for playing the organ, also the pallbearers and flower girls.
Her children, Fred Miller and Mary Long, and grandchildren, Denver and Edward Long. *85-1

Minnesota and Michigan State Early Pacemakers in Big Ten's Rose Bowl Race

CHICAGO — The Big Ten's battle for the Rose Bowl berth began in earnest this week with five conference games on tap after two weeks of non-conference practice. Minnesota and Michigan State were the early pace makers, the Spartans because of a 54-0 opening day win over Indiana and Minnesota by virtue of a 21-17 decision over rugged Purdue Saturday.

This weekend Michigan State will face intra-state rival Michigan at Ann Arbor in perhaps the best game of the nation, while Minnesota will travel to Northwestern to face virtually the same team which battled the Golden Gophers to a scoreless tie a year ago, possibly costing them a Rose Bowl chance.

Spartans and Gophers Get Nod
Michigan State and Minnesota probably will be favorites for the games, but either one could be upset.

In the other conference clashes unbeaten Iowa, ineligible for the bowl because it won the title and played in the post-season classic last year, will be at Indiana. Illinois travels to Ohio State, and Wisconsin appears at Purdue.

Only Iowa was out of the bowl contention due to ineligibility. Wisconsin is unbeaten and plays its first league game. Ohio State and Illinois, each with one win and one loss, both are bowl eligibles.

The Michigan State - Michigan scrap will match two unbeaten teams, but while Minnesota has won both its starts, Northwestern has lost both of its games to non-conference rivals.

Minnesota had to come from behind to down Purdue and the Boilermakers outgained the Gophers on the ground and in the air. But Purdue lost the ball five times on fumbles.

Michigan Trounces Georgia
Michigan State dropped California, 19-0, while Michigan bounced Georgia, 26-0, in another inter-sectional struggle. Ohio State, aided by Don Sutherland's 81-yard punt return for a touchdown, tripped Washington, 35-7, and Illinois bounced back from its loss to UCLA to drub Colgate, 40-0, with reserves playing the second half.

Wisconsin blasted out its second straight win, 45-13, over West Virginia as Danny Lewis scored on an 86-run run and a 63-yard pass from Sid Williams. Iowa shook off the flu bug which sidelined eight of its top 22 players to break a tie in the fourth period and beat Washington State, 20-13.

Notre Dame tallied twice in the first 15 minutes and went on to whip Indiana, 26-0, while Northwestern gave up 15 points in the first half to Oregon State and finally lost, 22-13.

Stengel Given Rough Time by Milwaukee Fans

MILWAUKEE — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees got used to the catcalls years ago.

It's a good thing he did. Milwaukee fans have given him a rough time since his Yankee team reportedly snubbed a civic welcome for them here Friday. Every time Casey leaves the protection of the dugout, the jeers start, handkerchiefs wave and a younger man's ears would burn. "Is this bush team too much for you?" they ask. "Bush" is included in most of the jeers because of a Yankee player's comment that the celebration for them Friday was "bush."

But Casey takes the jeers in stride. Sunday, for example, in a critical spot, he changed pitchers. Then fans heaped abuse on him but as he walked back to the dugout, he blew them a kiss.

Browns, Colts Lead Pro Play

By United Press

The Cleveland Browns, who hold most of the patents on football defense, and the Baltimore Colts, who have some pending, grabbed the National League's division leads today with the only perfect records after two weeks of play.

The Cleveland and Baltimore defensive units provided the only hints of consistency as the 12-club league rocked under five upsets for the second straight week. The Chicago Bears, defending Western Division champions, looked as the "bust" of the season as they took their second straight whipping.

Cleveland scored a 23-12 victory over the Steelers Saturday night at Pittsburgh and took the undisputed Eastern Division lead when the Washington Redskins surprised the Cardinals Sunday at Chicago, 37-14.

Baltimore upset the Bears Saturday night, 21-10, and became the sole Western leader when the Detroit Lions scored a 24-14 Sunday victory over the Green Bay Packers.

The New York Giants were favored over the Eagles by seven points Saturday night at Philadelphia and were lucky to win 24-20.

In the other Sunday clash, the Forty-Niners thrilled 59,637 rosters at San Francisco by rallying to surprise the Los Angeles Rams, 23-20.

Cleveland and Baltimore have 2-0 records while Philadelphia and the Bears have 0-2 marks. All the other teams have 1-1 records.

SIU Homecoming Set Nov. 7-9

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois University's 1957 homecoming festivities have been set for November 7-9, according to Thomas Giles, Chicago, student chairman of the 18-member committee that has begun to hold weekly sessions to plan the event.

Three activity-packed days centered around the theme, "Salute to Southern" will come to a climax on November 9 (Saturday) with the traditional forenoon parade, afternoon football game, a series of organizational activities for returning alumni, and the evening concert, homecoming dance and stage show.

Festivities will begin with a 10 a. m. student homecoming convocation and the 7:30 p. m. coronation ceremony and reception for the 1957 homecoming queen. Her identity will not be revealed until the time of coronation. November 8 events will include presentation of the homecoming play and the student pep rally and bonfire which will include burning the green "beanie", caps of freshmen.

Illinois-Ohio State Game on TV Saturday

CHICAGO — The Illinois-Ohio State football game will be televised on a regional basis next Saturday. It will be the first Big Ten Conference game televised regionally this season.

THE CANVAS DAGGER

by HELEN REILLY

The Story: Sarah Casement is more certain than ever that someone murdered Grant Melville after an attempt on the life of her friend Zita Warren. Zita was hurt in a traffic accident. Her brother-in-law thinks it was Zita's own fault. But Zita owns the apartment across the street from the studio from which Melville fell to his death. Was Melville pushed? Was Zita pushed?

VI
ANDY MIDDLETON had come over to New York with Zita to pick up his car, which was being repaired at a garage near the ferry. They had decided to walk to the garage. At the west side of Ninth Avenue, they had been held up by traffic, which was heavy. Out she darted, straight in front of the truck. She had escaped death by a hair. At the last possible moment the driver had managed to swerve so that instead of going under the wheel Zita had been thrown off by the fender. At first she hadn't seemed to be much hurt and she had insisted on being brought back here to her apartment and seeing her own doctor, but when Middleton got her upstairs she had collapsed.

Gillespie's first name was Tom, he gave it to Andy and asked whether there hadn't been a policeman on the scene of the accident, and Andy said that Zita refused to wait—"She's always so impatient."

Sarah went on with her own thoughts. "There was a crowd on the curb, and you and Zita were out in front—did you have her arm?"

"Not then, I was lighting a cigarette . . . You mean she could have been—jostled?"

"No," Sarah said slowly. "I mean she could have been shoved, into the path of that truck by someone behind her, someone who was following her . . ."

She told them impetuously, in a rush, about Grant Melville's death and what she had seen from the window in Zita's apartment weeks earlier. "The man who killed Grant Melville saw me from across the street and mistook me for Zita, he thought it was Zita who was standing at the window that day. It wouldn't have been hard to find out that Zita was the tenant of the fourth-floor apartment, and that she had left New York. Probably no one knew what time she left that day, there was no one in the lobby or elevator when I came. She came back to day, and now—this . . ." Her presence had been dramatically accentuated by her call from the window that morning. Someone down in the street had heard her call out, knew she was back, and had tried to kill her.

Tom Gillespie went with her to the hospital. So far she had been aware of him only as a silent presence. In her cab he gave her aid and succor and comfort. Grant Melville killed—he thought she might have something, after all she had been an eyewitness. He didn't twit her with the lie she had told him that morning about her whereabouts when Melville had gone through the studio window of the Tenth Street house. He said that the man Denner's behavior in the house earlier that day had been rather more than peculiar—also his hanging around in the street for so long a time after he left the house. The arty woman, Miss Dolwin, had also been in the street when Zita called from her window. Gillespie said, "You didn't see her but I did." Miss Dolwin was a short distance down the block, near the Silver Eagle, and she had gone into the restaurant.

ZITA wasn't going to die. There was a depressed fracture of the temporal bone and possible bone splinters that might have to be removed later, and she had three broken ribs. She had been very fortunate; if the head wound had been half an inch to the right she would have been done for. The doctors had questioned her and she had no recollection whatever of the accident. The last thing she remembered was leaving the ferry with her brother-in-law, Mr. Middleton. Everything after that until she woke up in the hospital was a complete blank.

A Dr. Roberts explained to Sarah and Tom Gillespie that there was nothing unusual about this, that it was a quite common occurrence in head wounds.

The little restaurant they went into later was clean and softly lighted. She had a scotch and water and a chicken sandwich. Tom Gillespie had steak and beer. The place was pretty well filled. Gillespie talked. After a while she found herself listening. He had been in Germany during the war and afterwards had traveled around Europe extensively. He had been to some of the smaller places she knew. The tension in her began to loosen. The questions, suspicions, about him that had occupied her that morning faded.

SHE asked Gillespie whether he wrote for a living, and what he had written.

He said, "God forbid" to the first and to the second, "A bad novel. I don't think fiction's up my alley. I thought I'd like to try my hand at fact, that's why I answered Mrs. Melville's ad—although the job will probably turn out to be superfiction—that's what the lady wants. But it oughtn't to take long, and a thousand bucks for a couple of weeks won't be bad."

Sarah said, "No wonder you got the job, I asked $2,000." "On a pure bluff—you had the nerve." His face sobered. "You're better out of it, Miss Casement. If you're right, the thing's dynamite . . . Let the police handle it." (To Be Continued)

The Channel Swim

Pat Boone Organization Takes Over Half of Sid Caesar's Office Suite

By WILLIAM EWALD

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK —The channel swim . . .

The old order changeth: Pat Boone's new organization, "Cooga Mooga Inc." (Cooga Mooga is a Boone nonsense phrase), has taken over half of Sid Caesar's two-story office suite in Manhattan. Pat now works out in Caesar's old gym room with bar bells—once a favorite Caesar activity.

Mike Wallace's recent trip to Europe produced film interviews with Kirk Douglas and Otto Preminger. Danny Thomas' opening show on Oct. 7 will have Jack Benny in an unbilled walk-on. Ethel Merman will shoot her new TV series after the first of the year in California—Phil Silvers will supervise production.

Joan Caulfield, who was barely on speaking terms with Barry Nelson during their "My Favorite Husband" series, is finding her new NBC TV "Sally" show a happy change of pace — Miss Caulfield gets along so well with her new co-star, Marion Lorne, that she chauffeurs Miss Lorne to work each morning.

Cary In Lin
Shucks dep't: Half of June Havoc's family won't be on camera tonight when Ed Murrow's "Person to Person" comes visiting her Manhattan home—five of Miss Havoc's 10 cats are sick and couldn't fly in from California. Cary Grant is the lead contender to emcee the Oscar TV derby next year.

Johnny Carson told this joke in a recent warm-up before his ABC-TV show, "Do you trust your wife": "You know why Ed Sullivan used me on his show?—Because I wasn't important enough to be introduced from his audience."

Hal March cut a rock 'n' roll record for Dot Records. Tony Martin, Arthur Godfrey's announcer is in the disc biz, too—He's just turned out "Words and Music of Love" for Zodiac Records. Zodiac is owned by Lee Erwin who plays organ on the Godfrey morning show.

Jayne Meadows (Mrs. Steve Allen) expects the baby on Nov. 13 —They won't name it Ed. Erin O'Brien must be suffering from saddle sores—ABC has used her in filmings of "Cheyenne," "Maverick" and "Colt 45."

New Milton Hit TV

Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, will emcee an entire "John. Hopkins File 7" show on education, upcoming on ABC TV in December. One of the co-creators of "Keep It in the Family," an ABC-TV quiz show that'll debut Oct. 12, is Leonard Stern.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Work is misjudged by some people as a drudgery to be avoided

Steve Allen's chief writer.

"Zoomar," Ernie Kovacs' novel about the TV industry, should touch of a spate of guessing games around the industry when it comes out later this month — Some of the characters have real life counterparts. George Sanders is going into a new filmed TV series — Something about a hard crusted newsman with a golden interior.

Sam Levenson received a large voice vote from members of the Teamsters Union recently when they were asked who they wanted to entertain them at their Miami Beach convention. Commented Sam: "Five more votes and I would have wound up a vice-president."

To most folk it is accomplishment and self-expression. For those who repetitively produce material find joy in the direct results of their labors, as well as in the benefits of the things they can buy with their wages.

God honors work, and He rewards man for his service. There are scores of opportunities to work for the expansion of God's kingdom here on earth. We must be alert to accept these responsibilities, great and small. Each word we speak and each load we lift can lighten the burden of someone. For these labors we are not paid in cash.

There are multitudes of folk who could follow the path to salvation if someone were to lend a helping hand along the straight and narrow path. Work is essential to the great purpose of God. We must work with a spiritual purpose as well as with a material purpose. Then only can we feel the fullness of satisfaction for our labor.
